

Are you new to UQ Law?

We've put together our top recommendations for starting your law journey with us.

Take a look at the comprehensive checklist below and step through the tasks that appeal to you (keeping in mind that there is no correct order).

Please note, the checklist highlights several ways to get involved and take the pressure off in your first year, as well as some considerations that we recommend you keep in mind earlier.

Attend your first-year gelato night

Every year (Sem 1) we host a first-year welcome mixer featuring free gelato and other nibbles. Be sure to register and meet your UQ Law School academics and student community!

Discover Law Student News

As you continue with UQ Law, we'll be in touch regularly via our student communications email, Law Student News. Look out for your copies via your student email. You will be automatically subscribed to this mailing list.

Join a society

At UQ, there are four law societies you can join, each boasting an inclusive and like-minded community to connect with.

Attend a court visit

Each year, new students are invited to attend a unique tour of the Supreme Court of Queensland where you're introduced first-hand to the Queensland legal system.

Discover The Hub

The Hub is your online bulletin board full of the latest job opportunities, podcasts, events, news and more – just for current UQ law students.

Learn about UQ's Pro Bono Centre and Mooting Programs

While we recommend waiting until your second year to start these initiatives, it's worth learning about our Pro Bono Centre and Mooting Programs early.
